People who care. If you reminisce about your last four years at MSJ, I am certain that you will recall instances when people--your peers, parents, teachers, coaches, among others--showed an active concern for you as a person. (Of course, not everything was perfect and sometimes people did not seem to notice the challenges that you faced. However, I bet there were times--important times--when people reached beyond themselves to show that they cared for you and for the struggles that you faced.)

I would like you to take a moment, right now as you read this yearbook for the first time or later when you thumb through this book again, and jot down in this space the times in the last four years when people showed that they cared for you.

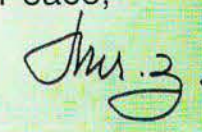

You may think that what I have asked you to write in your yearbook is a meaningless exercise. But I ask you to consider this question: In the end, what really matters in life? Friendship. The hallmark of friendship is the caring concern that people show us. Sometimes that caring concern is shown through thoughtful listening. Other times it comes in the form of someone guiding us to make a better choice. Real friendship is marked by a loving concern for another person. It means helping the other person choose wisely; that is, friendship is about helping someone choose what is good in the face of all the obstacles that life might pose.

Too often, I think, many of us miss the point of true friendship. Sure, it involves fun times. It also involves confiding in someone knowing that the other person values us enough to hold who we are in confidence and with genuine, loving concern. True friendship says "I care so much for you that I want what is best for you. I want you to be the best person possible. I want you to know what is good and true and just."

After these last four years at MSJ, who are the people to whom you showed true friendship? Record their names here.

If you have at least one name written in the above space, you are a fortunate person. True friendship, standing by another person, listening and guiding that person to a better life, is a rare experience. Why do I say this? True friendship requires putting someone else first and laying aside our preoccupation with our own self-interests. "No greater love than this: To lay down one's life for one's friends. I call you my friends." That's a very strong statement of friendship, isn't it?

Remember the moments and the names that you have written here. Remember them every now-and-then when you get busy in the life that is ahead of you. Always remember that there was someone who cared for you at this point in your life. What more can you ask?

Peace,

Mr. Z.

Mr. Marty McDonough - 40 years at MSJ

"A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops." Henry Adams

Four years ago the class of 2010 entered MSJ as freshmen. Some of us were scared and some excited. The main cause of the nervous anticipation was teachers. Would they like us? Would they give tons of homework? Would it be the same as middle school? So many questions surrounded our young minds.

Slowly we began school and met all the teachers we would have during our first year. One man stood out above the rest--Mr. Marty McDonough. Mr. McDonough had been around MSJ long before any of us had. He had been a teacher to most of our older siblings and even to some of our parents. Over the course of our freshman year, we got to know Mr. McDonough in one of three ways: as the Algebra teacher, the Athletic Director or the lunch room supervisor.

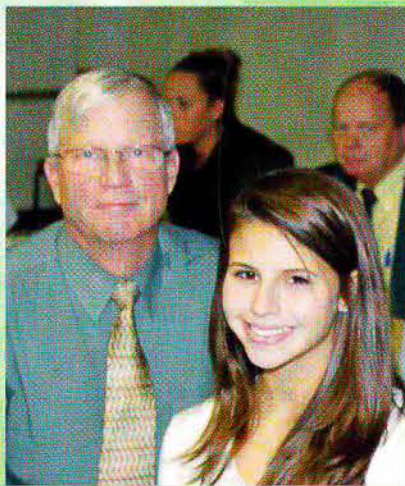

Mr. McDonough was always there for us in Algebra if we did not get a problem, helping us until we understood. He also drilled square roots into our minds forever with his quick "around the room" game. He was a patient, kind and attentive teacher and we respected him for that. As Athletic Director, Mr. McDonough was always encouraging us to try a new sport. He worked his hardest every season to make sure that each sports team had enough players. Through his hard work, he was able to save every sports team that needed to be saved.

As freshmen, the class of 2010 quickly learned what the term "Lunch Stampede" meant. During our freshman year, no line order of seniors to freshmen existed; it was "one call" lunch and everybody for themselves. As freshmen we were forced to the back of the line but Mr. McDonough always made sure there was something left for us to eat. He was always looking out for us and still is. As we grew up with MSJ, we got to know him better. As juniors and seniors, many of us have worked with him as captains of the sports teams.

Whenever we needed him, Mr. McDonough was there for us like he had been for our siblings and parents before us; just like he will be there for future classes. The quote says that a teacher will never know where his influence stops. For Mr. McDonough, this is very true. Maybe at college we will need to know a square root and we will be able to just rattle it off. If we think about not playing a sport in college, we will hear Mr. McDonough's voice telling us it is worth a shot. Mr. McDonough has affected us during our time at MSJ in more ways than one, ways that may not show up yet. One thing the class of 2010 does know is that every time we take out our cell phones in a school, we will look behind us for Mr. McDonough and be a little upset when he is not there.

Thank you, Mr. McDonough

Thanks to all my family members especially my mother; without you it could not have been done. Thanks to my friends for being there no matter what the circumstances. Thanks to my coaches for being understanding and believing in me; you guys really made a man out of me. KL, CL, LA, CP, CM, PP, IJ: my boys, I love you to death and best friends we will always be. DKR, I most definitely would not even be alive if it weren't for you. I love you and always will. Mountie Football- changed my outlook on life; win or lose, we loved every second of it, even if it was Louis tackling our own team.
Mounties 'til we die.

In the next ten years: I will be living on a island on the Mediterranean, kicking back and enjoying the sun.

My Will:I leave the lunch table to the boys-- you know who you are. I leave the parking lot to my son, Hunter Forte -- for that Volvo of his. Raiche and Hunter -- let the snowboarding tradition continue. Drew, I leave you the football team -- it's all yours. Juniors, one more year and, boy, do I feel badly but I leave this place to you -- it's your job to take care of it now.

Thank you Mom and Dad for all you've done for me over the years and the help and guidance you've given me. It must've seemed like a long 18 years, but yes I AM going to college! I also want to thank my teachers and coaches for molding me into the person I am today. These last four years have taught me more about life than I could ever have imagined. I also just want to say that I'm going to miss Project Help, playing sports and representing the Mounties. I am a proud MSJ grad. Lastly I would like to thank Sara for her patience and help over the past 2 years, ily.

"The only thing we have to fear is fear itself" Franklin D. Roosevelt.
We cannot fear the future that lies before us. All of us in the class of 2010 shall be ending our primary school careers after more than 12 years of education to go out into the real world. We cannot fear the outside for it is what helps us grow and fear shall only holds us back. I enjoyed my time at MSJ and I am very proud to have had to privilege of makings friendships and bonds with every member of my class. Even though many of us will be apart in college, we shall all be in each others hearts and thoughts as we go down the ever mysterious road of the future. I will miss all moments in X-C I shared with Tyler, you were fun to be around, a great friend, and the best teammate I have ever had. Drama House Manager
Junior Class VP

In the next ten years:I will be traveling the world, meeting new people and learning new languages.

My Will: The future is in your hands, make your dreams come true! Will: I leave G.Garbo to Briana Patten and the good times in the future when we travel to concerts... again. I leave Student Life to Colleen and all other Student Lifers to make each school year a BLAST! I leave the Drama House Manager position to Andrea Bizon and Ji Soo Yoo, keep having fun with the walkie-talkies : D

Guangyi Zhang

Thank you mother and father, you give me love and a perfect life. I love you.
Thank you guide father and guide mother, you love me and care about everything about me. I love you.
Thank you Karol, my hostmother, you love me, take care of me and teach me a lot. I love you.
Thanks everybody who loves me.
Thanks everybody who cares about me.
Thanks everybody who helped me.
I appreciate you, I love you!

CHANGING WORLD

↑ The number of first-time visitors to food shelves surges, as families cope with the economic recession. Food banks report that demand is up 30 percent on average.

→ The Armed Forces Network broadcasts five NBA games to U.S. troops on Christmas Day. The NBA gives the AFN broadcast rights for free.

↓ Consumers have more alternative fuel options as the number of biodiesel stations continues to grow across the United States.

↑ During October, Breast Cancer Awareness Month, pink products are everywhere: from printers to power tools, snowboards to golf balls, blow dryers to water bottles.

↑ Students protest the University of California's 32 percent tuition increase. Average tuition is up 4.4 percent for private four-year colleges and up 6.5 percent for public four-year colleges.

↑ Teens are setting an example for their parents, with 56 percent of teens volunteering to support a charitable cause.

CORDLESS ELECTRICITY

TOP 10 WAYS TO SAVE ENERGY

1. Turn off the lights when no one's in the room.
2. Carry a reusable tote bag when you go shopping.
3. Bike or walk instead of driving.
4. Get a reusable metal water bottle.
5. Unplug and shut down electronic devices when not in use.
6. Buy music online instead of purchasing CDs.
7. Use rechargeable batteries instead of disposables.
8. Replace standard light bulbs with compact fluorescent bulbs.
9. In winter, turn down the heat and wear more layers.
10. In summer, set your air conditioner thermostat to 72° or higher.

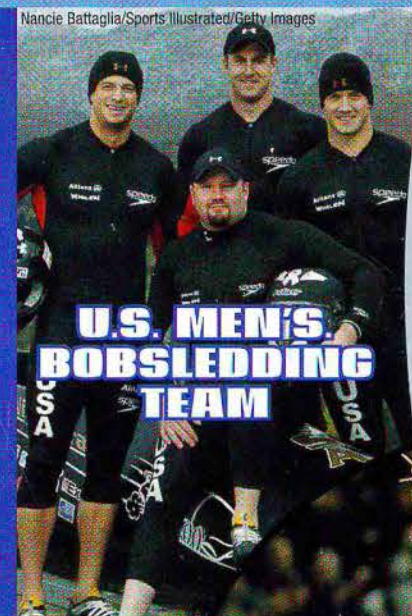

SPORTS

At the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, the top-ranked Alabama Crimson Tide defeats the second-ranked Texas Longhorns to finish the Bowl Championship Series.

Sidney Crosby becomes the youngest captain to hoist the Stanley Cup as he leads the Pittsburgh Penguins to their third championship and first since 1992.

Team USA heads to Vancouver, British Columbia, for the Winter Olympics. More than 200 athletes represent the United States at the XXI Olympic Winter Games.

The New Orleans Saints beat the Indianapolis Colts 31-17 to win Super Bowl XLIV, their first championship title.

The New York Yankees capture their 27th World Series Championship when they beat the Philadelphia Phillies, four games to two.

Ricka Alissa Baron, Vicky Chaney and Marla Bastien came to MSJ in March to complete their school years after suffering the affects of the huge earthquake in Haiti. They entered the MSJ community with enthusiasm and immediately became involved in sports, community service and classes.

Alissa and Vicky are graduating with honors as part of the class of 2010, having been inducted into the National Honor Society. Marla will return to graduate with the class of 2011. They've been an asset to their classes and wonderful additions to the MSJ community.
